zu einem Vortrag in englischer Sprache von Dozentin Dr. Sonja Veselinović (Literaturwissenschaftlerin, Philosophische Fakultät d. Universität Novi Sad) über

YUGOSLAV BLACK WAVE

The Yugoslav Black Wave cinema of the sixties and the seventies was internationally relevant as a modernist, nonconformist style of filmmaking. These films were created by the postwar generation working under the sign of individual expression and aesthetic experimentation.

The Black Wave filmmakers offered a critical approach focussed directly on contemporary society and its many problems, urging to engage their viewers and to transform them into active agents of change.
